START

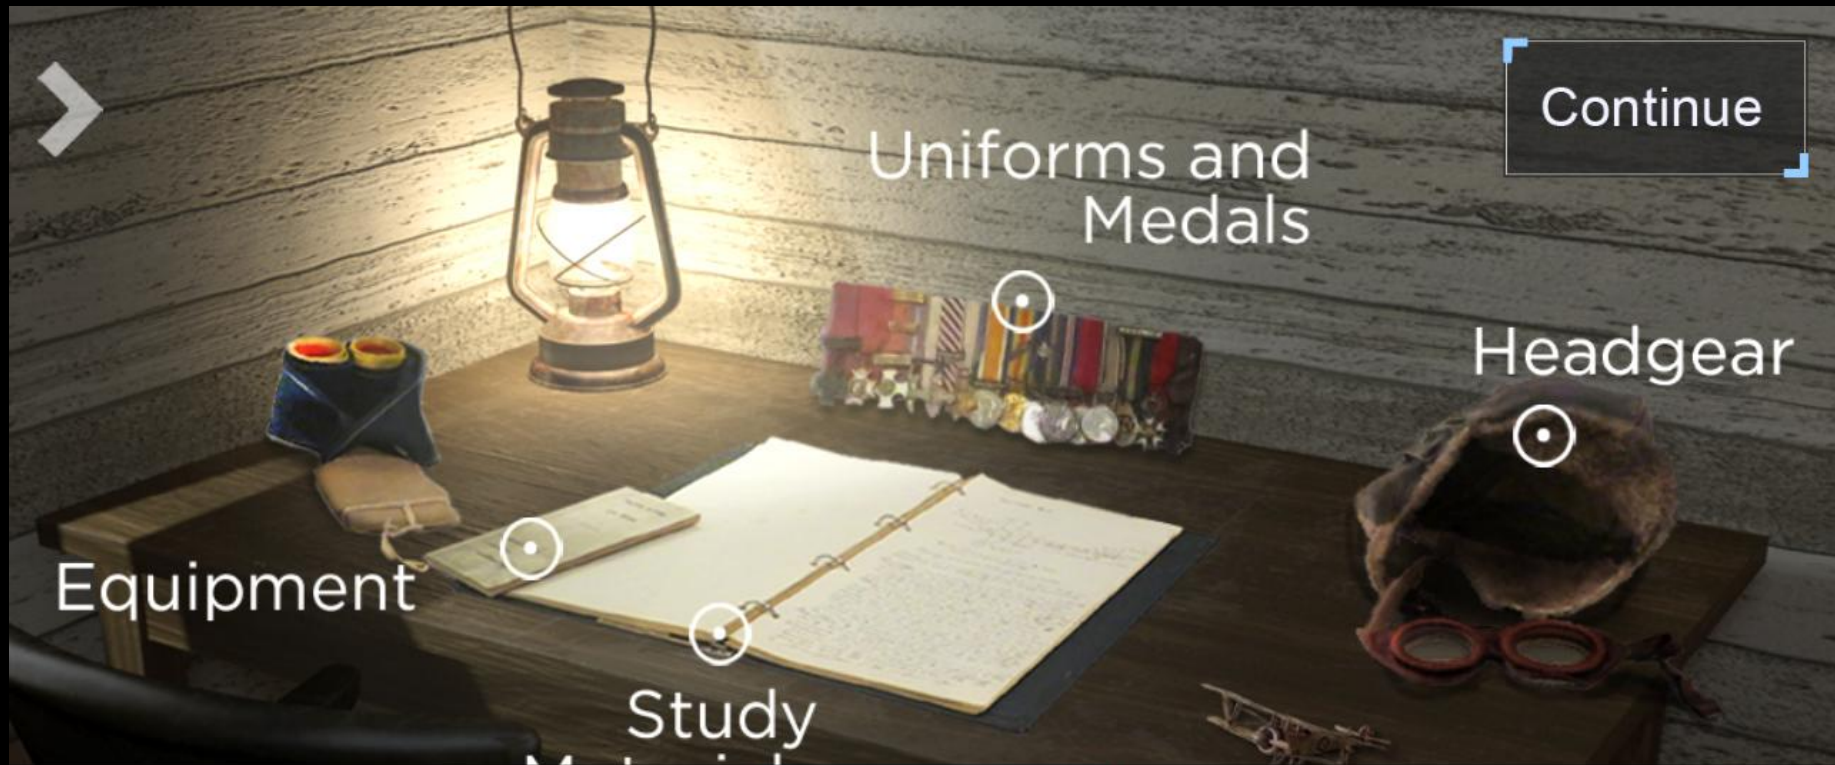

An aerial photograph showing a landscape with a river, a bridge, and a network of trenches. The trenches are visible as dark, linear features cutting through the fields. A semi-transparent dark box contains the title and subtitle. A semi-transparent light box contains the descriptive text. An inset box in the bottom right shows a magnified view of the trench network.

TRENCH SYSTEM

Trenches have a front line with a network of support trenches behind it. The wide open space between opposing trenches is known as “No-Man’s Land”.

The objective is to uncover the hidden collection digitally

Uniforms and Medals

Spot the enemy aircraft and touch to identify them. Avoid friendly aircraft!

A detailed illustration of a Bristol F.2B biplane, a two-seater fighter aircraft from World War I. The aircraft is shown from a side-on perspective, parked inside a dark, industrial-style hangar with a complex wooden truss structure. The plane features a dark upper wing and a lighter lower wing, both with circular insignia. The fuselage is dark with a white circular insignia on the side. The tail section is painted with vertical stripes of red, white, and blue. The registration number 'D-7889' is visible on the side of the fuselage. The aircraft is positioned in the center of the frame, with its wings spread wide.
